Principal updates board on new program

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Hale Creek Principal Lynne Mossoian recently updated the Romulus School Board on how the School Improvement process impacts elementary students.

Mossoian concentrated on the areas of curriculum, methodology and self-concept. "Reading by far is our most vital, far-reaching subject, yet least developed," Mossoian said. "In February, the entire staff will become updated on Michigan's new Definition of Reading program."

Hale Creek representatives Sharon Silveri and Cheryl Van Allen will be attending a reading conference in March. Silveri and Allen will report back to Mossoian on current issues discussed during the conference.

"Multicultural education is a pressing issue for educators and students as demographics have shown," Mossoian said. "It is the consensus of the Hale Creek staff that we can no longer ignore multi-cultural education."

The first step toward increasing awareness of multi-cultural education among students and staff is to educate the facility on the content and issues, Mossoian said. The second step is to incorporate them into the curriculum and methodology of the school.

The Hale Creek plan for the 1990-91 school year is as follows:

- The second-grade teacher is providing leadership. The instructor has brought videotaped materials to curriculum meetings on issues of racial stereotyping and desensitizing themes for the staff.

- On Jan. 21, an in-service entitled "A World of Difference" was staged, sponsored by the Anti-Defamation League.

- On Jan. 21, a school-wide assembly was staged to celebrate Dr. Martin Luther King's contributions to the country.

- On Feb. 18, a presentation for students will be staged: "African American Touring Company." Actors will portray famous African Americans.

- March/April/May. Various cultures/ethnic groups will be highlighted school wide.

In terms of self-concept, Mossoian said second-, third-and fourth-marking period students who earn honor roll and perfect attendance will be recognized as usual.

"However, we will begin the remainder of our recognition program with certificates for various other strengths we wish to reinforce in students, for example, friendship, problem solving and creativity," Mossoian said. "One of our partners in education, Ramada Inn, is working with us on an honors banquet."

School Improvement meetings are staged every other week.

Students make pizzas

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Barth Elementary School first-graders had a real treat last week at Mr. Bill's Pizza.

Owner William Raack opened his doors to 34 first-graders who were eager to learn how to make an individual pizza.

Pizza-making was a first for six-year-old Crystal Harris.

"I've never done this before," Harris said. "Mom made pizza once at home."

Manager Gordon Evans set up four tables for the students, two at a table. Evans gave detailed instructions on how to make the pizza before handing out the dough.

"You take the dough out of the bags and roll it in the flour," Evans said. "Then take the round ball of dough and push it with your fingers until it's flat on all sides."

Several parents gave a helping hand to the students along with the first-grade teacher, Karen Richard. Even Barth Principal Harold Cannon took part in the pizza-making as the oven supervisor.

Michael Patrias, 6, had no problems flattening the dough.

"It's not very hard," Patrias said. "I just need more pepperoni. Are there any mushrooms?"

Mr. Bill's Pizza is one of 60 Romulus businesses involved with the Partnerships for Education program. Through the program, businesses assist district schools to help further education for all students beyond the classroom.

Council extends contract

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmen decided Jan. 28 to extend the current contract with Community Emergency Medical Service for an additional three-year period.

Fire Chief William Greenslait recently met with officials from Allen Park, Southgate and Taylor to discuss the extension of service.

"I have reviewed this with the Police, Fire and Safety Commission, and it is my recommendation and that of the commission to renew the contract at this time," Greenslait said.

The Emergency Medical Service will continue to provide Romulus residents with basic and advanced ambulance service when needed with no cost to the city.

owned company established in 1982. CEMS served Romulus for the last three years and has met the demand of the often heavy call volume, according to Kenneth Slinker, senior sales and development manager.

"Additionally, CEMS has worked with your department on various functions within the confines of the city such as the Haz-Mat exercise at Woodbrook and the ongoing blood pressure screening for Romulus citizens," Slinker said.

Slinker informed Greenslait Dec. 31 the future of the four community regional approach of CEMS could be in jeopardy.

"The award of this service to a provider other than CEMS may interfere with our ability to continue the level of service being experienced in the remaining communities," Slinker said. "In an effort to ensure stability for the future, I encourage you and your city administration to immediately express your views on the need to remain as a group to Taylor."

The councilmen agreed to extend the contract by a unanimous vote. The service officially began Feb. 1, 1991, and will expire Jan. 31, 1994.

County to buy city garage

By MARGO DEWEY

As part of the Detroit Metropolitan Airport expansion, Wayne County officials will buy the Romulus Department of Public Works garage at 34100 Goddard Road.

Romulus councilmen recently agreed to draft a contract with the special counsel of Monaghan, LoPrete, MacDonald, Sogge and Yakima for the DPW building acquisition. The contract will be reviewed by the city attorney, and the final draft will be signed by Mayor Beverly McAnally and City Clerk Linda Choate.

Boris Yakima previously worked with the city on another job, according to Dennis Oakes, director of community development.

"Mr. Yakima worked with the Tax Increment Finance Authority on other land condemnation matters and is highly regarded in this field," Oakes said. "Mr. Yakima's fee is on a contingency basis, receiving one-third of any additional value over and above the county's initial offer."

The fee is reimbursable to the city by the county under the federal Uniform Relocation

Act, according to Oakes.

"Mr. Yakima would also be responsible for subcontracting out a professional appraisal of the building, with that fee also reimbursable by the county under the federal act," Oakes said.

As of Jan. 21, Romulus did not receive a formal offer from Wayne County on the property.

"The county will have the property appraised and will then tender to the city a written good faith offer as just compensation for the acquisition," Yakima said.

Yakima informed the councilmen and McAnally the county is responsible for the expenses of the litigation, regardless of the outcome.

"While we cannot guarantee reimbursement for all expenses, it has been our experience that the vast bulk of these expenses are paid by the condemning agency," Yakima said.

Resident charged with robbery

By MARGO DEWEY

A Romulus resident was recently arrested and charged with armed robbery and possession of a firearm.

Hodari Thomas, 20, was arraigned in the 34th District Court on Jan. 25.

A $10,000 cash bond was set.

On Jan. 16, Thomas allegedly walked up to the walk-up window at the Total Gas Station on Goddard Road, according to police reports.

Police said it was about 1:50 a.m. when Thomas allegedly pulled a handgun and pointed the gun at the female attendant, who police believe was the only one in the store at the time of the attempted robbery.

Thomas demanded money from the cash register, police said.

The attendant handed over a small amount of money.

It was undetermined how much money was handed over, according to the police report.

No one was hurt in the robbery.

Police said a Feb. 6 exam has been set for Thomas in the 34th District court.

Veterans plan rally

Support for Operation Desert Storm will be the focus of a Feb. 17 rally at the Fourth Street Mall in downtown Belleville.

The 2 p.m. rally is coordinated by the Vietnam Veterans of American Chapter 310.

LeRoy Paige, a Vietnam veteran, along with members of his committee, attended the Monday meeting of the Belleville City Council to gain approval for the rally and to request a display of flags on Main Street. Approval for the rally was granted, and $500 was appropriated for flags and holders.

The city has 80 new decorative light posts in the downtown area, and tentative plans call for flags on every other post.

Homeless housing on schedule

Construction on the Family Center, a new concept in housing for the homeless, is on schedule and officials are still targeting March 1 as the date to open the facility.

"We are still using the target date as the day to open the doors," said Joe Benyo, member of the Homeless Advisory Council and city council liaison for Westland.

The center is located on the Eloise property near the intersection of Michigan Avenue and Henry Ruff Street in Westland.

"We're still waiting for Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara to announce the official opening date," Benyo said.

The Family Center is funded from community development dollars from 38 Wayne County communities.

After the center opens, the advisory council, which now meets once a month, will meet four times a year. "I still think we'll need to meet to address some of the long-term goals pertaining to permanent housing," Benyo said.

Later this month, at a meeting scheduled for Feb. 20, the members of the advisory council and officials from Wayne County and Wayne Community Metropolitan Services expect to have all the answers pertaining to an opening date.

Even though the date is only around the corner, center officials are still looking for some donations.

"We could really use office furniture," Benyo said.

Anyone interested in donating to the center should call 728-7510.

Pizza

the students how to make pizza could open a number of doors for the students in the business world in the near future, according to Partnerships Coordinator Ed Clark.

"What they are doing now is learning about the fast food industry," Clark said. "They are not only learning work skills, but also learning about team work skills. Who knows, these might be the future entrepreneurs."

Rickard agreed with Clark, adding not everyone has the opportunity to go to college after graduating from high school.

"This could be a good job to start out when they grow up and graduate from high school," Richard said. "I think it's a good age right now to start teaching them about the business world."

After each student made his or her pizza, Cannon timed the pizzas in the oven and handed them out piping hot to each of the students.

Students learn about Indians

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Students from the "School Within a School" program at Romulus High had the opportunity to learn about the life of the American Indian Feb. 4.

Three American Indian students from the University of Michigan Minority Affairs office spent a couple hours with the ninth-graders, teaching them about the dress, spiritual life and history of the Indians. The ninth-graders were scheduled to see the movie, "Dances with Wolves," this week.

Chief Louie Thunderhawk from the Lakota tribe talked about the importance of music in the American Indian way of life.

"In our tribe, we have songs," Thunderhawk said. "Some songs are celebration while others are spiritual."

The Lakota tribe stretches from Kansas to South Dakota and from North Dakota to Saskatchewan. Thunderhawk explained how 13- and 14-year-old Indians have to pray for guidance as to what their future holds.

"We have seven ways of having prayer ceremony," Thunderhawk said. "Long time ago, 13- and 14-year-olds would start questioning for visions. Those boys would have to stand on a hill with the sacred pipe for four days and nights without food and water, praying for a vision to be able to find a purpose in life."

Sometimes the vision would tell the young Indians to be hunters while others would be healers, according to Thunderhawk.

"The time we lived here in the Great Lakes, all the tribes were east of Michigan," Thunderhawk said. "We were more or less forced out onto the plains."

Thunderhawk told the students he is a flute maker. Most of the Indians beliefs, according to Thunderhawk, were based on things in nature, including the flute.

"Some flutes were made with birds heads on the end," Thunderhawk said. "It takes about four days to make these flutes. They have to be hollowed out."

Thunderhawk came to Michigan from South Dakota. He was born in Dallas, Texas.

"I moved to Ann Arbor because I heard about the art center in Ann Arbor," Thunderhawk said.

A student asked Thunderhawk how he became chief at such a young age.

"In our history, in my tribe, it was the women who chose the chiefs," Thunderhawk said.

"It was the chief's responsibility to always provide food and protection for the tribe. The chief was more or less the spokesman for everyone."

Chippewa Indian Michael Dashner described the dress of the Indians.

"All the outfits have to be handmade," Dashner said. "My outfit is very traditional. The eagle feathers are very important."

Chippewa Indians can obtain eagle feathers two ways, according to Dashner. The feathers can either be handed down or Indians can write to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for feathers from eagles that are killed or die of natural causes and are put in storage by the state department.

He said although Indians are trying to cope with all the changes with modernization, they are still trying to hold on to the traditional value system of the old days.

"Today, it seems stronger for more Indians to marry Indians," Dashner said.

After Dashner finished his discussion, he danced for the students.

The School Within a School program is based on 45-minute classes with a five-minute break between class periods. Unlike the rest of the school, the students have a daily study period, which is spent with the students' second hour teacher.

Resident battles against leukemia

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

With the help of family and friends, a little Romulus resident is fighting a tough battle against leukemia.

Jordan Hadyniak, 7, is a second-grader at Barth Elementary School. He was a healthy child until recently when he began to complain of soreness in his arms and legs, according to his mother, Annie.

"I took him to the hospital," Mrs. Hadyniak said. "He was knocked down sick once every other day. We kept taking him to the emergency. The doctors were treating him for an infection. It wasn't until the second pool of blood taken that they found he had leukemia."

Luckily, Hadyniak was diagnosed at an early stage, according to his mother. He will now begin chemotherapy for three years.

We're at one day a week now," Mrs. Hadyniak said. "His doctor is really a guardian angel. Jordan is doing real good right now. He misses about one to two days a week of school."

The brother-in-law of Mrs. Hadyniak, Rick Hadyniak, with the help of Larry Lindenmuth and several residents and city officials, put together a be-

The raffle was staged at the Romulus Comfort Inn Jan. 31. More than a dozen friends and family members showed up to support Hadyniak.

"We couldn't have done it without the help of so many people," Rick Hadyniak said.

Those who contributed to the benefit included: Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally, James Panos, Betsy Brown, Chief William Greenslait, Chuck Lindenmuth, Lakeview Printing, Romulus police and fire departments, city employees, Comfort Inn, Progressive Club and Romulus school employees.

Greenslait picked up Hadyniak and his brother Johnny, 10, in a fire truck Jan. 31 to take him on a ride from his home to Comfort Inn. It was the first time Hadyniak ever rode in a fire truck.

"It was OK," Hadyniak said. "We didn't go too fast."

Mrs. Hadyniak said she's going to think positive thoughts for her son.

"It's real scary," she said. "I'm just going to take one day at a time."

The benefit raffle tickets were sponsored by the city employees. Cost of the tickets were paid for by Lindenmuth.

Council requests grant

Downriver Arts Council officials asked Romulus councilmen for a $2,000 grant Jan. 28.

Beth Stone, Detroit Arts Council representative, described what the council can offer the city.

"You do have a large quantity of artists in this area," Stone said. "We bring top rate careers to your community for free."

Besides offering creative art classes and working with seniors on a mural, the Arts Council also helps "at risk" students and substance abuse children.

"We try and teach them to have some outlet," Stone said. "We saw the self-esteem grow."

The Arts Council recently received a grant for the program "Cultures Across the Continents." This program is geared toward helping the community understand the difference in cultures.

"We're bringing in the Attic Theatre," Stone said. "We'll be visiting the Romulus Elementary Schools throughout the year."

Stone asked the councilmen to appoint a volunteer to sit on the Community Cultural Advisory Board with the goal to find out what the community wants in terms of cultural events.

"We'll have an agenda as to what you'd like to see the Detroit Arts Council bring to your community," Stone said. "I'd like to know if you would consider an individual or city contribution of $2,000."

Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear showed his nod of support for the Arts Council.

"I think the things you talked about are very positive for the community," Gear said. "I'd like to thank the Detroit Arts Council for their work."

Mayor Beverly McAnally recommended the councilmen take the request under advisement since city officials are just beginning to work on the budget.

Swimming trip is planned

The Romulus Recreation Department will present a swimming trip from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m. Feb. 9 at the Westland YMCA.

A bus will leave from the Recreation Building, 36515 Bibbins St., at 3 p.m. Feb. 9.

All Romulus residents aged 6 and older are welcomed. Residents younger than 6 must be accompanied by an adult.

Cost is $4.25 per person. For more information, call 942-6852.

Students bound for Washington, D.C.

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Hale Creek Elementary sixth-graders will head to Washington, D.C., in June if school board trustees give their nod of approval for the trip.

Gaye McGinnis, a sixth-grade teacher, has been preparing her students for the excursion by having them write patriotic essays.

"The winner of the essay will meet with Congressman William Ford (D-Taylor) who will give them a flag and certificate," McGinnis said. "Then, they will be able to participate in a wreathing ceremony."

This is the seventh year Hale Creek students have visited the historic sites in Washington, D.C. Students have to earn their money for the trip by selling candy and participating in a raffle. The cost of the trip is about $300, which includes four nights lodging, bus travel and food.

"Every year, we don't get to do the exact same things,"

McGinnis said. "This year, we will take chartered buses where every three students will be assigned to one adult. The only concern of the school board right now is the threat of possible terrorist attacks. I spoke with Congressman Ford who said the only building closed at this time is the White House."

About 62 students will be eligible for the trip. Historical sites on the agenda include the Capitol, U.S. Treasury, Arlington Cemetery, Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson memorials, Smithsonian Institute, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Gettysburg Battlefield, Washington Cathedral, Vietnam Memorial, National Archives and the Library of Congress.

"The only reason why I do this over and over again each year is because it's great to see the different kids and the different reactions," McGinnis said. "The group of students who went the very first time to Washington, D.C., are graduating this year from the high school. Those students have told me how much they enjoyed the trip, and it was the best thing that ever happened to them."

Sixth-graders are always enthusiastic about seeing Washington, D.C., for the first time, according to McGinnis.

"To me, it's all a little unreal," McGinnis said. "It's like being in a fairy tale. Seeing the real documents and the U.S. Constitution, it was a great experience for me."

Students return to Civil War days

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Students at Franklin Junior High School traveled back in time Tuesday morning to the days of the Civil War.

With the help of hundreds of tiny soldiers and a recreation of the battle of Gettysburg, eighth-grade students from teacher Fred Priebe's class were able to see and participate in a sized-down view of the conflict.

Tom Wirshing, a history enthusiast, offered to bring his replica war and battlefield to the school so that students could see first-hand what took place. It took Wirshing and Priebe more than one hour to set up the battleground.

The portion of the battle Wirshing recreated was the second day of the Civil War.

As Wirshing talked about the battle, he asked students to move certain military regiments and make sound effects.

"What we're doing with this layout helps them to see what happened how it happened and why it happened," Priebe said.

Wirshing collects the tiny pewter soldiers and individually paints each and every one of them.

"He has a hobby called war gaming. Wirshing and other history enthusiasts get together and recreate different wars," Priebe said.

Wirshing told the students that some of the soldiers who participated in the Gettysburg Battle came from Detroit, Canton Township, Wayne and Nankin Township.

Conference to provide education

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A new trio of "the three Rs" is the subject of a western Wayne County educational program.

"Reduce, reuse, recycle" is the message carried to groups and organizations in the 18 communities served by the Conference of Western Wayne. A state Department of Natural Resources grant is funding the resource recovery education project.

"We can tackle solid waste management problems more efficiently and more effectively as a consortium of 18 communities," said CWW Executive Director Daniel Gilmartin. "We have been researching programs on solid waste management for more than two years and we believe our niche is getting information to the community. Education is the most important component in solid waste reduction. People need to know why and they need to know how?"

Gilmartin said about 100 presentations have been scheduled to various school and community groups in the area, and the CWW hopes to bring its recycling message to 400 more groups before the end of 1991.

In a presentation to the September Days senior citizen group in Van Buren Township, CWW representative Marlene Davis made a dedicated effort to close the waste loop by buying recycled materials.

She noted office paper, greeting cards, cellulose insulation and plastic lumber for boat decks and park benches are made from recycled materials.

Davis said solid waste can be reduced if consumers buy durable products instead of disposable ones, and refuse excess packaging on the items they purchase. She also noted by detaching the grass catcher from lawn mowers and by composting clippings and leaves to make a natural fertilizer, a large part of the waste stream can be reduced. Re-using items also will aid in solid waste reduction, said Davis. She recommended such measures as:

- Using refillable plastic containers for foods, and substituting lunch boxes for paper bags.
- Wiping up spills with sponges or rags, rather than paper towels.

- Using ceramic cups at home, at the office and at meetings, and buying reusable, non-breakable dishes and cups for picnics and parties.
- Donating used furniture, clothing, toys, eyeglasses, magazines and books to a charity, rather than discarding them.

Davis encouraged the group to recycle glass, metals, paper, plastics and used motor oil. Individuals who wish further information about recycling may contact 525-3333.

Beyer Hospital sale suspended for now

For the time being, Beyer Hospital will continue to be operated by United Care Inc., but a future sale has not been ruled out by its executive board.

Milton Mack, chairman of the United Care Board of Directors, announced the executive committee has approved a recommendation to continue to operate the Ypsilanti hospital, and has suspended all discussions with potential buyers.

Mack indicated United Care Inc., a Wayne-based non-profit organization, will evaluate all options for Beyer Hospital during the next several months and then determine the most appropriate future for the hospital.

Catherine McAuley Health Center had expressed interest in buying the hospital. Following the announcement of the proposed sale to CMHC, a group of local physicians made an offer to buy the facility.

The physicians group believes a takeover by CMHC will result in the use of Beyer Hospital as an emergency and outpatient facility only, and would result in a loss of jobs for many staff members.

Beyer Hospital was formerly part of the publicly owned People's Community Hospital Authority, and was funded by the participating communities. Because Beyer Hospital was constructed with tax money when it was part of the PCHA, many local residents believe taxpayers should have an input in any proposed sale. Legal action to halt the proposed sale of the hospital was threatened by several of the former PCHA communities.

At a forum in Belleville earlier this month, state Rep. Kirk Profit of Ypsilanti said four concerns must be addressed before the hospital is sold: health care for the community, indigent health care, the interests of the employees and the taxpayers' investment.

Dr. John MacDermid, president of the Beyer Health Care Services, told the forum audience a sale to CMHC would give the group a monopoly of local private hospital beds.

Too close to home

It began innocently enough. Unfortunately, the concern expressed for the safety of residents of Westland by Mayor Robert Thomas may have inadvertently poured fuel on the smoldering fire of racism sparked by the Persian Gulf War.

Recently, just after a story appeared on the front page of our Sunday editions regarding the possibility of terrorist activity in local areas, Thomas issued a letter addressed to all Westland community members in which he suggested that acts of "violence may well spill over into the United States." The mayor further suggested that all residents remain "extra vigilant" and report "any circumstances which may be in need of investigation."

We were shocked to discover the mayor on the evening news discussing the precautions the city was taking against terrorist attacks and to hear representatives of the police department on the radio being interviewed by inane reporters suggesting that danger may be lurking in Westland mall or at the recreation areas.

We learned, with great shock and remorse, of the reaction of Chamber of Commerce members who felt it necessary to issue a statement and convene a press conference to defend the safety of the city. Chamber President Bruce Priestly said there were numerous phone calls at the Chamber office from people who were concerned about not receiving this vital information regarding safety conditions in the city. Priestly explained that the Chamber of Commerce office had not been sent the letter from the mayor and many other businesses were also omitted from the distribution of the warning.

The purpose of the statement issued by the Chamber members was to set aside any undo fears or negative implications of the mayor's statement which was, according to several members of the group "blown out of proportion by the television and radio reports."

We couldn't agree more. Obviously, our first reaction was to examine our own conduct and take an objective and discerning look at our performance. We were sorely afraid that our story might have played some part in this fiasco and were, quite frankly, preparing to make whatever amends possible for the damage we felt had been done. In re-evaluating our efforts, however, we felt secure in the effect our story was designed to have. We had intended to offer reassurance and information, not inflame or incite an already tentative situation.

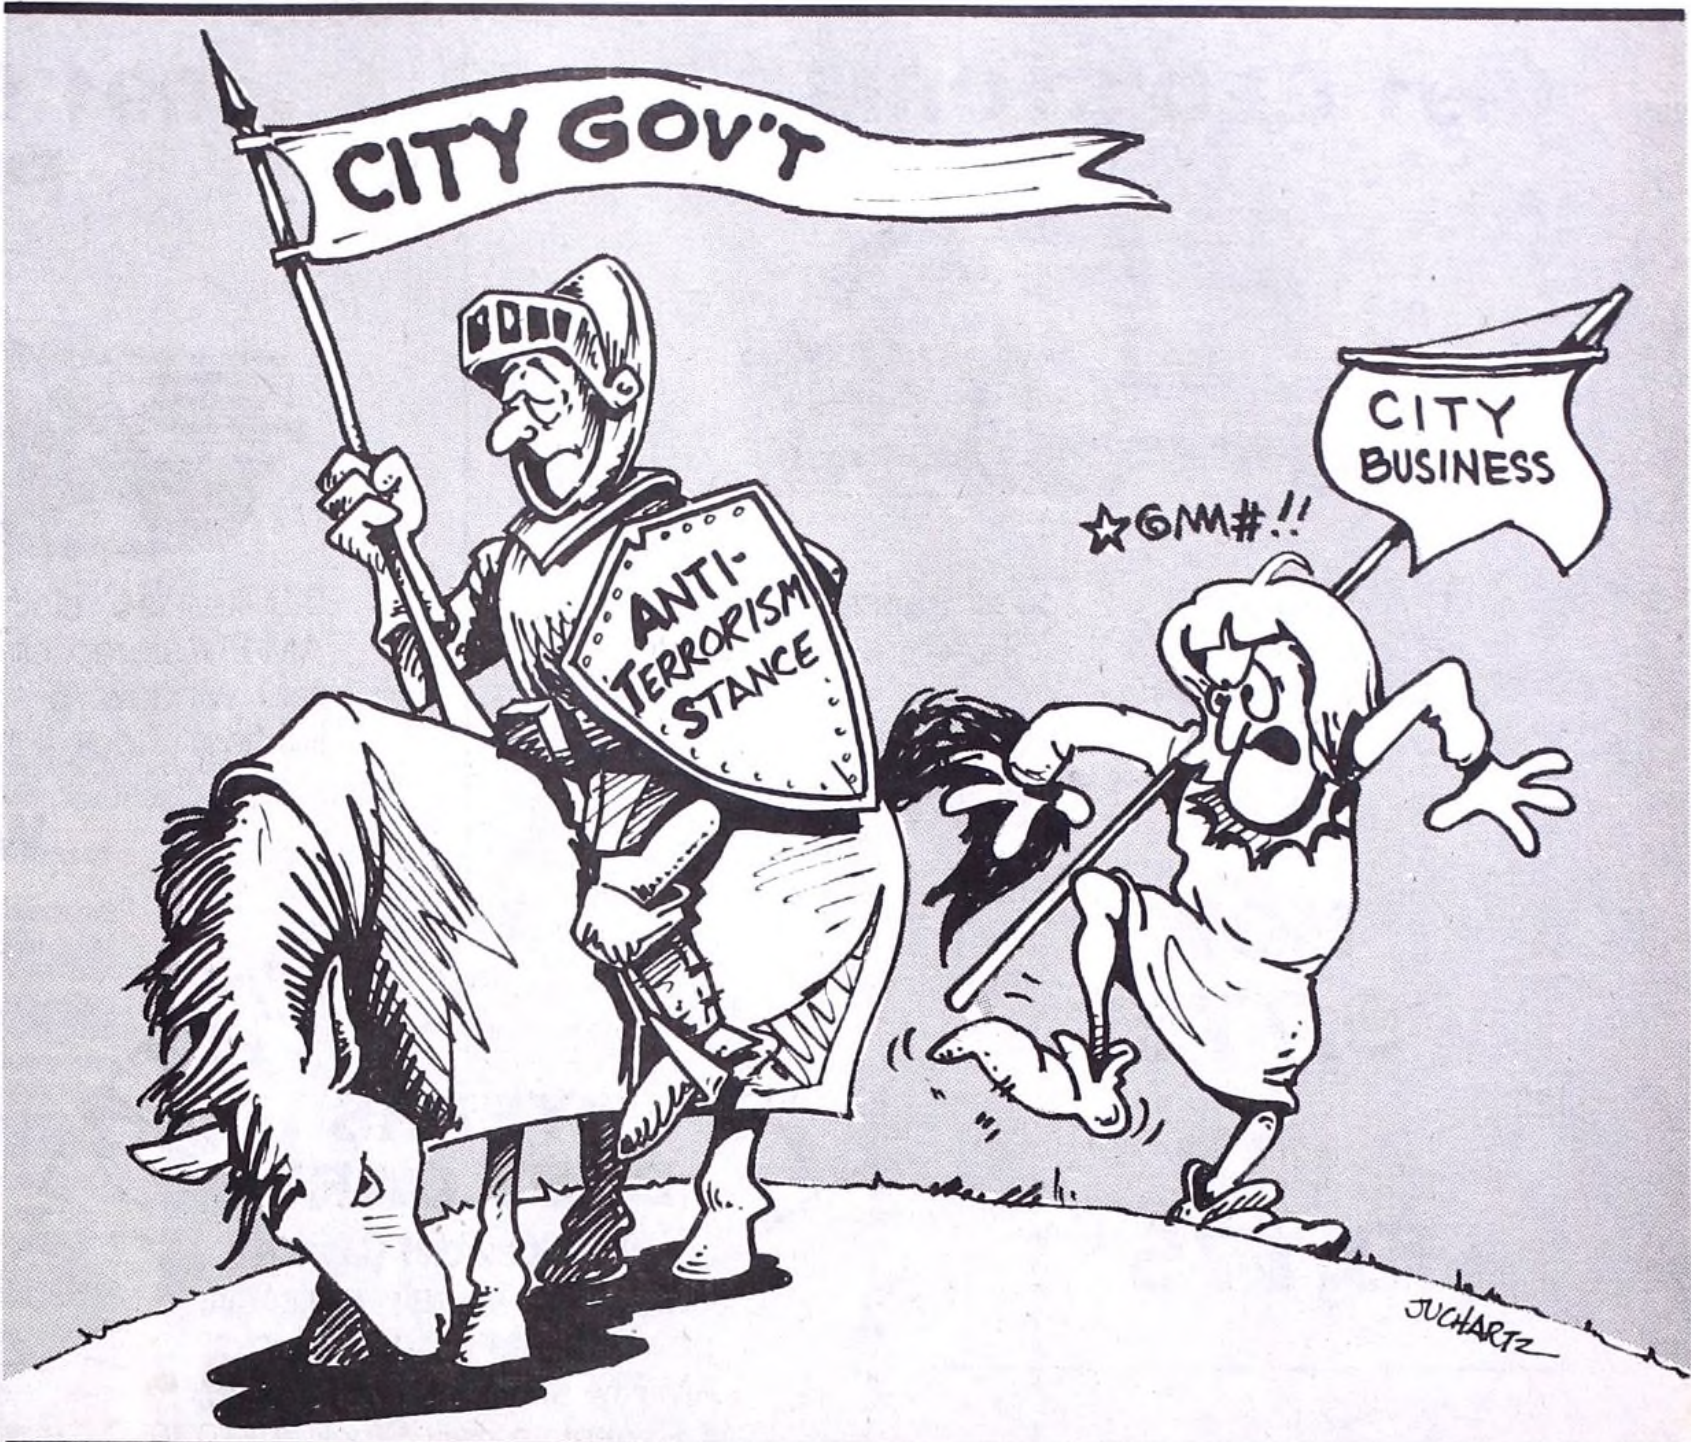

We noted with some relief the mayor's statement was dated prior to our story, although distribution seems to have lagged somewhat behind that time. Both the mayor and this newspaper had the same intentions, we're sure. Unfortunately, in the case of Mayor Thomas, the electronic media provided a negative connotation and exposure which could easily have been the impetus for exactly the kind of racial strife all involved were attempting to avoid.

Wisely, once the mayor realized this, he began to refuse interviews, and was not drawn into a conflict with chamber members when the "reporters" from the television and radio stations wanted him to respond to the statement made by the chamber members. He could easily have been seduced by the lure of the bright television lights and cameras.

Mayor Thomas, in this instance, reminds us somewhat of Don Quixote, who, pure of heart and innocent of guile, is drawn into battles with imaginary and harmless enemies.

We can only hope this inflammatory and derogatory type of publicity for Westland and, thereby this whole area, will not prompt the type of racial violence and lack of understanding which occurred during World War II. We are confident the mayor did not intend for us to become suspicious of our neighbors and distrustful and intolerant of those whose ethnic background may differ from ours. His was, we believe, a sincere effort to respond to national concerns.

Each day, those who have loved ones, friends or family members serving in the Persian Gulf find the war brought into their living rooms on their television screens. Their agony, worry and torment does not need to be brought to their doorsteps by local politics.

Neighbors practice patriotism

It happened so quietly I almost didn't notice, until about the second day. By that time I figured it had a lot of significance to my neighbor and that if it was a sign of For or Against, I would also join this person on the For side.

So I slipped out that afternoon and raised mine also. Watching as it flapped in the wind realizing this was no holiday, but that the symbolism in being united with my neighbor, knowing he stood as I for my country, was a great close feeling of togetherness. Slowly over the next few days, across the street, two houses down and all over the block, our friends and neighbors silently did the same. We all feel united. It shows and we haven't even spoken a word. Our great beauties fly and flap in the wind letting everyone know that drives down our block we all feel the same.

Since that one day, my neighbor, Jim Snow, made that silent valiant stand for our country the other two ends of the block have followed. Not only by flying the great red, white and blue, but by tying yellow ribbons on trees and mailboxes, reminding us of hostages, POWs, and our troops defending our freedom, need our prayers and support most of all.

I can only hope that the others will stop, unfold, and put up Old Glory to stand with us a united front for our country. To stand in support silently praying and waiting for peace to come.

Youth urges opinion poll

Since the outbreak of war on Jan. 17, there have been many polls taken on how the general public feels about President Bush and Congress' approval of war against Iraq. It seems that the general public approved of their decision to fight in the Persian Gulf.

On the other hand, has anyone taken into consideration how the young people (who are of draft age) feel about this war? Why not have a poll that asks how they feel about the war?

Mother urges millage vote

March 13, 1991, is the date set for the next millage election. Passage of this critical millage proposition will guarantee restoration of all programs cut.

1. Full elementary school day will be restored.
2. Junior High schools will regain their 1 hour that was cut.
3. The elementary schools with part-time principals would be able to have a full-time principal at their school.
4. New textbooks could be purchased. (Some textbooks are 13 years or older.)
5. Elementary schools would be able to have full-time art, music and physical education programs.
6. Junior and senior high athletics and extracurricular activities such as band and orchestra would be restored. (No more "pay to play".)
7. More money for school supplies.

All these programs are important for the children attending the Wayne-Westland School District in order to assure them a well-rounded education and better future. The top priority of this District has always been "Education".

Until the State of Michigan comes up with an equitable school funding bill (which probably won't be for at least three years) passing this millage proposition is the only way funds can be generated to operate the school district. The state continues to reduce its funding for schools in Wayne-Westland. The cost to the average taxpayer if the millage is passed would be $20. a month or .65 per day. Property values and also accreditation at the high school level are key issues to consider here.

The Save Our Schools (SOS) committee is asking for your help. The next committee meeting will be on Feb. 12 at 7 p.m. at the Board of Education meeting room, near John Glenn High School.

We need your support and help.

Also, if you are not a registered voter, you and a representative there can help you register. The deadline to register is Feb. 11.

Re-peat Belleville retains Wolverine 'A' Conference wrestling crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A stunning performance by all five of its wrestlers in the consolation round of the Wolverine 'A' Conference championships gave defending champion Belleville its second straight conference title.

All five of the Tigers who reached the consolation round pinned their opponents, giving them an additional 10 points en route to a 179-120 victory over their closest rival, Southgate Anderson.

Anderson had defeated Coach Gerald Malecek and his Tigers in a head-on dual meet earlier in the season. However, Anderson had lost to Trenton, creating a three-way tie for first-place entering the league meet.

All rode on the outcome of the league meet, Malecek said.

"The kids did an excellent job," the veteran Belleville coach explained. "12 of our 13 wrestlers finished fourth or better, and all five of our wrestlers in the consolations pinned their opponents. Everybody scored points for us."

Belleville has now won the league title 13 of the last 15 years. Trailing Belleville in the final standings were Trenton (117.5), Monroe (89), Fordson (88), Lincoln Park (78), Wyandotte (63) and Wayne Memorial (33.5).

Steven Davis, the Tigers' undefeated and state-ranked 130-pounder, remained undefeated as he edged Shane Folland of Monroe 7-6 for the gold.

Belleville had two other gold medalists in John Ratcliff (125) and heavyweight Jim Howe.

Ratcliff turned back Tom Phillips of Wyandotte 7-2 while Howe overpowered Bob King of Wyandotte 5-0.

Belleville placed three wrestlers in the runner-up berths with Bill Yuhas (135), Fred Garcia (140) and Mike Komaromi (171).

Yuhas clashed with Mark Famularo of Trenton in the finals and surfaced a 10-4 loser, while Garcia took on Wayne Schimming Jr. of Monroe and lost a 5-3 decision. If the name Schimming sounds familiar to local mat fans, it's because his father is the former Romulus High coach.

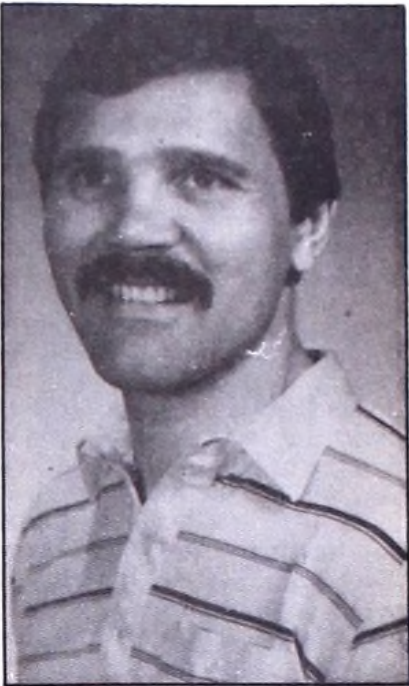

Komaromi fell to Dave Porath 3:07, and handed over the gold to the Trenton wrestler.

In the consolation rounds, Belleville wrestlers Josh Monte (112), Mike Champagne (119), Sean Zaborowski (152), Marty Sacco (160) and Brian Keeton (189) all won via falls.

Tom O'Kelley finished fourth after beating Mike Fountain of Southgate 2-0 in the 103-pound class.

Belleville was scheduled to meet Plymouth Salem, a winner last night of the Western Lakes Conference championship, in the first round of the Class A District championship.

Wayne falls short

A hot fourth quarter by Ypsilanti center Steve Williams ended the upset-minded hopes of Wayne Memorial Friday night.

The Zebras lost to Ypsilanti 66-51.

Junior forward Greg Hartman and Rick Barns led Wayne in scoring with 12 and 14 points, respectively. Romarco Fletcher added 10 for the Zebras.

But it was Williams, who finished with 17 points, who did most of the damage against the Zebras.

"He went wild in the end," Wayne Coach Dan Henry said. "Their size and strength proved too much for us. That's been a problem for us all season long."

Wayne started out the game slow, but managed to tie Ypsilanti at the half 26-26 with a late rally in the second period.

"We played with a lot of intensity before the half," Henry said. "I was really impressed with the way our guys picked up the pace near the end of the half."

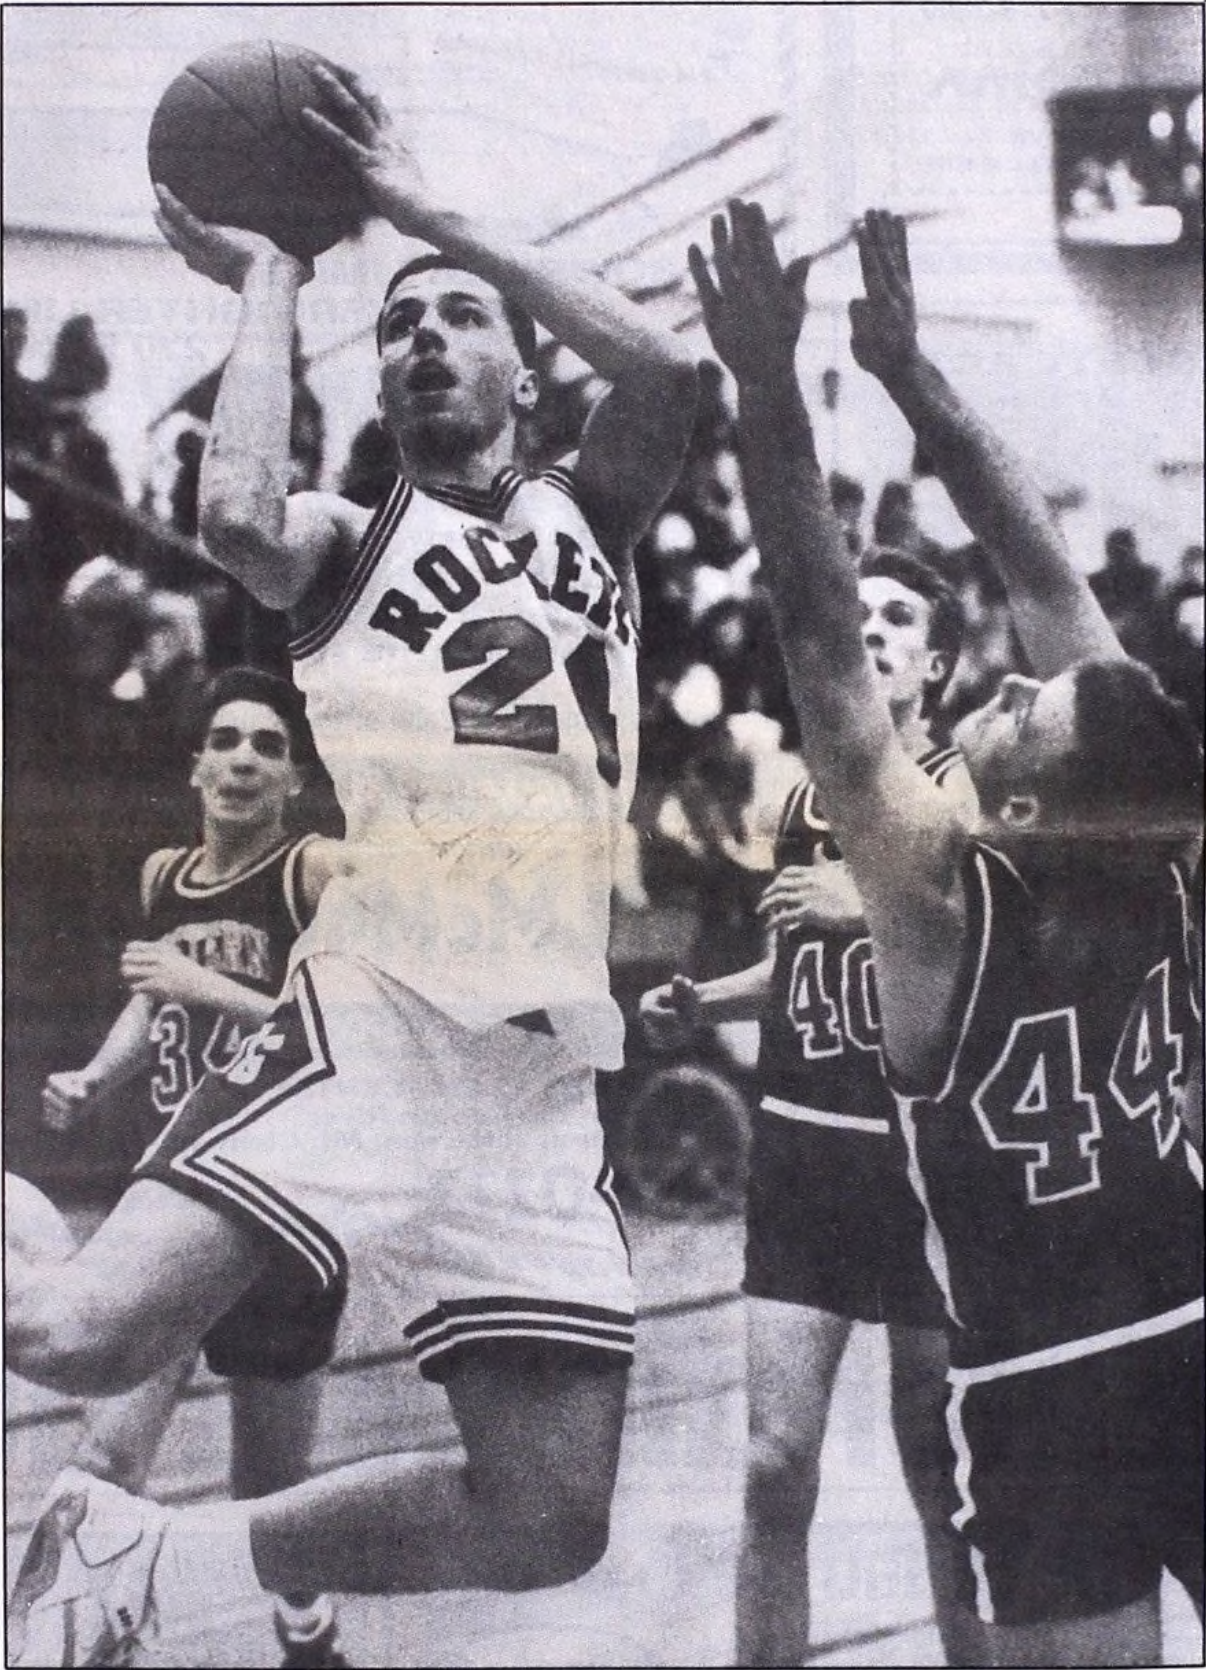

But Ypsilanti pulled away from the Zebras to a 42-36 lead after three quarters, and extended the lead in the fourth quarter.

It didn't help the Zebras when Hartman fouled out with four minutes to play in the fourth quarter. According to Henry, Hartman hurt his back in the first half, but it was only a minor injury.

"That was it for us," Henry said. "Hartman averages 19 points a game. He was under his average in this one."

The loss dropped the Zebras overall record to 10-5. They are 9-1 in the league.

Wayne will host state-ranked Belleville at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Belleville brings a 14-1 record into the Wayne gymnasium.

Despite some heroics by Nikki Wojcik and Kara Beeny, Westland John Glenn spikers had to settle for fourth place at the Howell Invitational.

The Rockets lost to the Chargers from Livonia Churchill in the semifinals and fell to the wayside.

Churchill went on to polish off Northville in the finals to capture the first-place trophy.

Wojcik came up with 104 spike attacks and 49 kills.

Benny contributed 97 attacks and 41 kills in leading the Rockets to fourth place.

The Westlanders received an exceptional defensive effort from Nikki Nagel.

She had 79 attempts and surfaced with 70 successful digs.

When it came to serves, Leighanne Dunlap had 16 aces and 46 serve points.

Berry finished with 63 serves and 21 aces.

Glenn will take an 8-12-5 overall record and a 3-5 Western Lakes League record into the week of action.

Moving up

Sophomore center Joe Bonnet (left) and J. P. LaRoche, who hail from Plymouth Canton, are members of the red-hot Western Michigan University hockey team. The Broncos, ranked 16th nationally, swept Miami University 8-3 and 7-2 with the help of the local talent. LaRoche has seven points and has played in 31 of the team's 32 games. Bonnet has one point and has been in 28 contests.

8 teams seek Romulus Roman tourney title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The third annual Romulus Roman women's Volleyball Invitational could be a rerun of the 1990 championships.

Both the host, Romulus High, and the defending champion, Clarenceville, are the pre-tournament title favorites.

The competition for the title will begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at Romulus High and eight varsity teams will be spiking the volleyball in hopes of winning the coveted title.

Also in the varsity division of the tournament are Taylor Center, Taylor Baptist Park, Melvindale, Riverview Gabriel Richard and Woodhaven.

The junior varsity division has teams representing Monroe Catholic Central, Taylor Center, Taylor Kennedy, Riverview Gabriel Richard, Garden City, Taylor Truman, Melvindale and Woodhaven.

The invitational is co-sponsored by The Romulus Roman, one of six local newspapers published by The Associated Newspapers Inc. and the Romulus Public Schools.

Romulus lost a close 3-1 decision a year ago to the Clarenceville Spartans in the finale last year. The exciting games remain among the best played in the series.

This year, the Spartans remain an unknown quantity.

"We just don't know what (Clarenceville) has," said Romulus coach Gail Coleman, whose club will carry a 21-10 record into the tournament.

"We have met and defeated the rest of the teams. We don't know what Clarenceville has."

The finals will be staged at 5 p.m.

In the meantime, Romulus lifted its South Central Conference record to 5-1 on the year at the expense of Ypsilanti. The Eagles went the five games with the Braves and, after dropping the first set 15-5, came back to win a thriller 15-12, and made it 2-0 with a 15-10 third-game victory. However, Ypsilanti stayed alive with a 15-12 victory, forcing the issue to a fifth and final game.

With the help of senior Tammy Trubilowicz's nine straight points, Romulus emerged a 15-9 winner.

It was a good tune up for Huron, Coleman noted.

Huron also is sporting a 5-1 record, and the two will meet on Wednesday to decide the championship. The River Rats, however, have the home court advantage in their final SCC meeting with Romulus.

Romulus has opted to leave the conference at the end of the current school year and will play as an independent a year from now.

Lewis stars at Northwood

Lewis is scoring plenty for the Northwood Institute women's basketball team this season.

Lewis, a freshman, has contributed to the success of the Northwomen, who have won four of their last five games.

Lewis, a 5-8 forward, has played in eight games this season.

Northwood is 5-6 on the year and is expected to contend for the NAIA District 23 championship.

Rockets finish 4th at tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It wasn't the best of meets or the worst of meets for Westland John Glenn and Belleville High swimmers.

For the Westlanders, however, it was a victory.

But it was a disappointing 97-86 loss for first-year Belleville Coach Frank Vicchy and the Tigers.

The loss dipped the Belleville overall record to 5-6 on the season.

The Rockets captured eight first places with Rob Richardson setting the pace in the 200-yard freestyle (1:59.6) and the 500-yard freestyle (2:09.4).

He also swam a leg on the winning 400-yard freestyle relay, combining with Echolt, Martin and McGrath.

The foursome covered the distance in 3:45.

In the meantime, the Tiger 200-yard medley team made up of Trevor Yeary, Brent Held, Mike Loria and Malcolm Lynch finished first in a time of 1:05.9.

Brent turned in a 24.78 in winning the 50-yard freestyle while Loria also won the 100-yard butterfly, a distance he finished in 1:00.1.

Belleville diver Sean Garland continued to dominate the boards.

He had the winning total of 211.70 points.

The Belleville Tigers wrap up the Wolverine 'A' Conference dual meet phase of the season Thursday evening when they clash with Trenton.

In the meantime, the Rockets will swim against Farmington in friendly waters at home.

Both meets begin at 7 p.m.

Riverview downs Huron

The title express of River-view picked up momentum last week as the league leader coasted past New Boston Huron 64-53 for its 10th conference victory in 11 starts this season.

The Pirates raced to a 9-0 lead before Matt Holtan answered for the Chiefs, who trailed 17-8 after the first period.

Although Huron never made up the deficit, the Chiefs kept within striking range.

Riverview, thanks to 6-5 senior Marcel Klein and Kevin Jenkins, continued to pound the boards.

The Pirates enjoyed a 31-24 halftime lead before outscoring the Chiefs 14-9 to take a 45-33 lead into the final period.

"It's that cold start that kills us," said Huron Coach Terry Suemnick. "I don't know what it is, but we have to overcome it if we are to get back into this thing."

Holtan and teammate Bill Phipps led the Chiefs' assault. Holtan scored 12 points, while Phipps finished with 11.

Klein came up with 22 points, one more than Jenkins.

Huron was on the road Tuesday night, traveling to Flat Rock where the Chiefs faced another tough battle.

They managed to get by the Rams the first time around, and you can count on the hosts seeking revenge.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named produce Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds, but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced style are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however, please include $2 Postage & Handling for each request.

BUYER'S DELIGHT

Monthly shopper to offer
great local bargains

Bargains, bargains everywhere. That is the theme behind the new monthly shopper published by Associated Newspapers, Inc.

This is the first issue of what we hope will be a long line of tabloid sections, said Lisa Stuart, retail advertising director for the Associated Newspapers, Inc.

The sections, published one Thursday of each month, will serve as an exciting opportunity for businesses to promote specials and for smaller businesses to advertise in our award-winning publications.

The sections will be turned over almost entirely to the advertisers. Area readers will flock to the section each month to find the best bargains in their communities. Professionally designed advertisements will draw them through the pages of the shopper as they gather information about for home and garden, new businesses and local photographs.

"Our newspapers are among the best-read in the area, and that statistic will mean more exposure

Our newspapers are among the best-read in the area, and that statistic will mean more exposure for our advertisers.

for our advertisers," said Stuart.

The advertising rate for the sections has been slashed to allow smaller businesses the opportunity to reach their audience even during these more difficult financial times.

Sections will be published: March 7, April 4, May 9, June 20, July 4, Sept. 5, Oct. 3 and Nov. 7.

For more information about placing an advertisement in the shopper, phone Stuart at 729-4000, or phone the Belleville office, 697-9191. An advertising representative will be directed to handle your business personally and professionally.
